Why Sponsor?

If speakers are your target market and important to your business, then Professional Speakers Australia offers you direct and trusted access to that audience.

This is a prime opportunity to engage with and market directly to business owners who speak to market their business or their message. There are numerous opportunities at the event and significant pre-event promotion to 2000+ members, potential members and previous guests. In addition to our local audience, we are promoting the event throughout the world to the ten's of thousands of members of our Global Speakers Federation partner associations.

So whether it is local, regional, or global exposure you are after, this is the event and this is the year to get involved.

Permission will be granted as a Sponsor to connect with delegates who opt-in to lead generation activities following the event.

Sponsorship is one of the lowest cost per lead of any marketing activities that an organisation can employ to access and build relationships with their target market.

Sponsoring is quality time to network with professionals who are leaders in their field of expertise and who are constantly asked for referrals to quality, reliable suppliers.

Various levels of opportunity are presented in this document which will allow your brand to benefit from the relationships that will be built with the delegates and the wider community of professional speakers throughout Australia and overseas.

Speaking in Australia

Overview

Professional Speakers Australia (PSA) is the organisation that supports experts who speak in Australia. We are the experts who inform, inspire, and influence from the platform, and together we help each other build on speaking competencies and continually develop our speaking businesses.

Our mission is to recognise and promote excellence in public speaking through professional development and networking.

The Speaking Industry in Australia

Before our association was established nearly 30 years ago, organisations may have hired a speaker for an event who had the knowledge but not always the ability to present in an engaging and entertaining manner. Over the years we have supported, educated, and grown the professional speaking profession throughout Australia and are now a highly recognised and professional association.

The increasing pace of change, the heightened sophistication of audiences, and the focus on achieving results, led to the demand for a better answer and a new role was created; that of professional speaker. A role to be filled by someone who could present information of interest and value in an interesting and valuable way.

Now, every day in Australia at literally hundreds of events – ranging from small team sales meetings and service group dinners to huge corporate conventions and multi-national conferences – professional speakers go about their business of presenting ideas, information, views and values, to entertain, enthrall, educate, and energise.

Who We Are

Professional Speakers Australia

The National Speakers Association of Australia was established in 1987.

In 2015 we became Professional Speakers Australia (PSA), and are the peak professional body in Australia representing the members of the professional speaking industry. We exist to develop, promote, and uphold the highest possible standards for the benefit of both our members and the public they serve.

The association was a founding member of the Global Speakers Federation (GSF), (www.globalspeakers.net) and we are one of only two organisations in the world that grants the international Certified Speaking Professional (CSP) designation – the other being National Speakers Association in the USA.

Any person who has an interest in the speaking industry – whether speaker or supplier, seasoned professional or raw recruit – is eligible to apply for membership and accreditation at the appropriate level.
